Commercial Litigation

Our success in representing business and corporate clients is based on our extensive litigation experience and commitment to establishing strong, personal, long-term relationships between ourselves and decision-makers within our client's companies. At Goldman, Tiseo & Sturges, P.A., we represent business and corporate clients involved in a wide variety of industry disputes such as breach of contract, debt collections, violations of non-compete covenants, commercial lease disputes, commercial land development, and shareholder / partnership litigation.

All business disputes, which can range from relatively minor to complex and substantial, ultimately affect a company's ability to meet its business and financial objectives. In today's competitive business environment, favorably resolving business disputes through either negotiation or litigation can be the difference between commercial success and commercial failure. We provide straight-forward legal advice to our business and corporate clients and aggressively defend their legal interests.
