Wrongful Death

NO ATTORNEY'S FEES OR COSTS, UNTIL YOU WIN

Life is fragile. Tragedies can occur in the blink of an eye, whether due to a true accident, a momentary lapse of judgment, carelessness, or an intentional or reckless act. The period immediately following such a tragedy is overwhelming for those who have lost a spouse, child, or parent. While coming to grips with such a horrific loss, you must also begin to determine how your family will emotionally and financially survive the tragedy. While monetary compensation can never adequately replace a loved one who is lost to us forever, Florida law nonetheless provides for various methods of financial compensation to certain specified survivors when a tragedy involving death occurs to a loved one.

More than likely, skilled insurance adjusters who represent the insurance company and the person who caused this tragedy will be working quickly to protect their company's and their driver's interests, rather than yours and your family's. Our formidable team can and will help you immediately. We will do everything ethical in our power to aggressively pursue your rights against the wrongdoer and applicable insurance companies in order to achieve a just result that helps to protect your family's future.

We are proud to help family's who suffer the loss of a loved one, and accept referrals from many local attorneys when their own clients suffer such a tragic loss. The experience, skill, and integrity of the representation we provide our clients is confirmed by our firm's AV rating by Martindale-Hubbell, the highest and most prestigious ranking awarded by the nation's leading legal directory. Our rating is based on the confidential opinions of other local attorneys and local judges who are best suited to assess the legal abilities of our firm. If a loved one has died due to the negligence, carelessness, or intentional or reckless act of another, we want to help.
